

Bruno Mottet is currently the Chief Technical Officer of Sweetch Energy. In 2015, he co-founded the company with Pascal Le Melinaire (Chairman of the board) and Nicolas Heuze (CEO). After a master's in engineering and a PhD in Physico-Chemistry Bruno mainly worked as a developer of innovative patented products and processes in the industry. Keen of science from fundamental to applied sciences, he is in charge by Sweetch Energy to transfer recent discoveries in the field of nanofluidic to a disruptive technology to transform salinity gradient mixing energy in electricity.
