

Electronic Materials Innovations for Sustainable Assembly

Steve BROWN - Director ESI Automotive, Stellantis

This presentation will focus on 2 new materials innovations which enable the creation of smaller, lighter weight assemblies which require substantially less energy in manufacturing processes.

The first focus will be on nano-silver sinter materials for high density power electronics, and the second will introduce the new category of reliable ultra-low temperature solder materials.