

Steve Brown is the Global Director at ESI Automotive. ESI Automotive is a company wide Automotive industry initiative for Element Solutions Inc as the parent company of Macdermid Enthone and MacDermid Alpha. These two divisions specialise in materials for industrial and electronics surface coating and joining materials technology. Steve, based in the UK, has been in technical and commercial roles within the business over the last 20 years, and has been solely focused on the Automotive market since 2012. He was educated at Loughborough University in the UK, specialising in materials science.