

Dr. Marco Contardi obtained a master's degree in Pharmaceutical Chemistry and Technology at the University of Palermo in 2014. After his graduation, he spent an internship at the Biophysics Institute of the Italian National Council of Research (CNR) in Palermo. He then joined the Molecular Biophysics and Soft Matter Group of the Physics and Chemistry Department of the University of Palermo under Prof. Maurizio Leone and Prof. Valeria Vetri. In the November of 2015, he started his Ph.D. in Bioengineering and Robotics curriculum Bio-nanotechnologies at the University of Genoa and the Italian Institute of Technology (IIT) in the Smart Materials Group of Dr. Athanassia Athanassiou. He got his Ph.D. in 2018, and then he started his first post-Doc on an industrial project between the Translational Pharmacology Facility and the Smart Materials Group of IIT. Currently, he is a Post-Doc at the University of Milan-Bicocca and the Marine Research and High Education Center (MaRHE Center) in the Maldives and a visiting scientist at the IIT.