

Full Professor of Comparative Anatomy and Cytology, at the Dept. of Biology and Biotechnology C. Darwin University of Rome La Sapienza. Head of the Cellular and Comparative Biology and Image Laboratory (CCBIL). Member of the PhD in Cellular and Developmental Biology. At the University of Salento, where she has always worked as a full professor, she was Director of international Masters on electron microscopy and on the figure of the Data manager in oncology, and has held various academic positions with managerial responsibilities (Academic Senate, Research Observatory, Council of Faculty and Department, University Erasmus program). She is a member of national and international scientific societies and president of the GEI-SIBSC Society. She organized several international conferences and was invited speaker at international conferences numerous times. She is referee of national and international scientific journals, author of 250 publications in full and PI of national and European research projects.