

Giuseppe Ruscica, University of Bergamo

Building Engineer and PhD, he is a Researcher in Building Production at the Department of Engineering and Applied Sciences of the University of Bergamo. His research focuses on tensegrity systems, responsive architectures, electromagnetic shielding materials and low-cost sensors for air quality monitoring.